The Board of Directors of TotalEnergies Marketing Kenya PLC is pleased to announce the unaudited half-year results for 2026.

Operating Environment

Kenya's macroeconomic environment remained broadly stable during the period, supported by lower interest rates, a stable exchange rate and resilient economy. While inflationary pressures persisted, largely driven by food, transport and energy-related costs, monetary conditions remained supportive of economic growth. Geopolitical tensions in the Middle East also contributed to heightened volatility in the global energy markets.

Financial Performance

Despite volatility in the global energy markets, the Company delivered a strong performance with profit before tax increasing to KShs 2,165 million (2025: KShs 1,414 million). Gross profit rose to KShs 6,145 million (2025: KShs 5,328 million), supported by higher sales volumes across all business segments.

Other income increased to KShs 868 million (2025: KShs 753 million), driven by continued growth in Shops, Food & Services (SFS) and third-party partnerships.

The Company's operating expenses increased to KShs 4,364 million (2025: KShs 4,099 million), reflecting inflationary pressures and higher depreciation charges.

Net finance costs declined to KShs 550 million (2025: KShs 688 million), as a result of lower borrowing costs. This decline was achieved despite higher working capital requirements, reflecting effective management of the Company's financing strategy.

Foreign exchange gains amounted to KShs 66 million (2025: KShs 119 million), reflecting the continued stability of the Kenya shilling against the US Dollar.

The Company maintained a strong cash flow position and invested KShs 1,240 million in key strategic initiatives, including network expansion, logistics optimisation and the development of its multi-energy strategy.

Dividend

The Board of Directors does not recommend payment of an interim dividend for the period under review.

Future Outlook

The Company remains focused on managing a dynamic operating environment through its continued commitment to safety, operational excellence and profitable growth while maintaining strong cash flow generation. These priorities position the Company to pursue emerging opportunities effectively.

The Board is confident that the Company will maintain its positive momentum and continue delivering shareholder value throughout the remainder of the year.
